AROUND THE TABLE

Very Rev. Michael A. Swierz, Pastor

Twenty-Eighth Sunday In Ordinary Time

Dear Friends,

"LOOSE ENDS"

She was knitting five baby sweaters, one for each grandchild's future baby when she was suddenly diagnosed with lymphoma. She did not have much time to live. As she dealt with the devastating diagnosis, the thing she worried about most was not being able to finish the sweaters. She worked on them until four days before she died.

That's when Sarah became the "finisher." Sarah is one of a thousand volunteers who complete unfinished fiber art projects for grieving loved ones through an organization called "Loose Ends." The organization matched Sarah with this grandmother's family. Sarah, an 86-year-old lifetime knitter, finished knitting the sweaters: soft, white acrylic wool with little owls on the front. Sarah took on the project because she understood the importance of it. I sort of put myself on the other side. I couldn't help but think how I would feel if I couldn't finish a project and someone was willing to take it over."

"Loose Ends" was started last fall by friends Masey Kaplan and Jen Simonic, avid knitters who know first-hand what it's like to have friends reach out about finishing a pair of mittens or a scarf or some other handmade item left behind by deceased loved ones. The two friends created a website and put out a call for volunteers and unfinished projects left behind by someone unable to complete the handiwork because of illness or disability. The projects are completed at no cost, save for postage. "Making something with your hands for someone is an expression of love," Masey Kaplan explains, "and when I finish things and give them to people, I want them to know that I love them, and I was making this especially for them. "We're connecting projects to a stranger who feels the same way, who will complete that gesture of love for another stranger so that the person who is grieving will get to experience that feeling we [crafters] know is important." [The Washington Post, February 12, 2023.]

The work of the volunteer crafters of "Loose Ends" is the "wedding garment" of Jesus' parable in today's Gospel. The projects they complete become the very embrace of the deceased knitter or quilter's love for those for whom these sweaters and quilts and mittens and hats were designed. Our lives are pieces of the fabric of experiences of love and loss, swatches of kindness, compassion, justice and forgiveness from which, with the "thread" of God's grace, we create a proper and fitting garment to wear to God's wedding feast — a feast that begins in our own homes and workplaces, at our own tables and benches. And, as the volunteers of Loose Ends have found, we experience God's grace when we help others complete their "garment," be it a sweater for a beloved grandchild or a scarf for an elderly relative. God's invitation to every one of us should inspire us to make our lives a "proper garment" that expresses our love and care in ways that will live on after we have taken our place at God's wedding feast.

Last week we began our study and small group discussion on the Holy Eucharist. During this National Eucharistic Revival we are invited to a deeper understanding and appreciation for the Most Holy Eucharist. How we come to a greater love for Jesus present to us in the Eucharist is up to us. For some it is private prayer and/or adoration where Jesus speaks to you directly. Some enjoy videos on Formed.org and shared discussion. Some may feel that they don't really need to rediscover the beauty of the Sacrament we share. As a parish, we try our best to provide for you opportunities for growth. Throughout the Church so many don't realize or take for granted the gift we have in Jesus' presence. This time of Eucharistic Revival is for all of us to recognize Jesus in the Eucharist we share. He said, "This is my body, this is my blood." Really, what more do we need to believe?

Special thanks to all who donated candy for our youngster's treat bags at our annual hayride. Again the hayride is tonight at 4:30 pm at Countryside Farm in Poland. All are welcome.

Next week is World Mission Sunday. Our second collection will be for the missions.

During the month of November, we remember our beloved dead. 7:00 pm Mass on All Souls Day (Nov. 2) will be offered for parishioners whose funeral was prayed during the past year. Sr. Bernadine and Deacon Michael have sent out invitations to the family of those souls to attend this special liturgy. All of our parishioners are invited to pray with us that night.

It's not too late to purchase your tickets for the Harvest Homecoming Wine Tasting event for our parish family.

Until we meet around the table, Fr. Mike

The Bread and Wine for all Masses

this week are given in memory of

Delbert Weaver

By: Mary Ellen Salata

I am a faith leader, not a political one, and the main way we as the Church respond to the great needs of our times is in the way we live our mission. As Bishop of Youngstown, I am grateful to our Catholic Charities and parishes throughout our six counties for the concrete ways they accompany women, children, families, and those in need every day.

While I would never, as Bishop, endorse a political candidate, there are times when the Church will weigh in on public matters informed by the Gospel.

I am urging you to vote "No" on the proposed amendment in November that would enshrine and expand abortion in our state's constitution.

BISHOP DAVID J. BONNAR

DISCIPLES CORNER

There are so many changes going on around us: the brilliant fall colors of the trees, changes in the weather, the Synod taking place in Rome, work continuing in our Church. What changes if any have you made in your life as a Disciple of Jesus Christ? Are you doing all that you have been called to do as a Baptized Catholic to spread the Gospel message? Don't allow the time to pass away as you say you were going to do something. Each one of us, as a parishioner here at St. Patrick's, has been called to continue to do the work that Jesus himself started. We need each and everyone of you to continue to make St. Patrick's a welcoming and thriving Parish, young and old alike, both men and women. Take advantage of the different ministries that we offer. If you have thought about becoming an altar server, a greeter, Eucharistic Minister, a Reader or part of the choir, now is the time to say yes. Call the Parish House, or see myself or one of the other Deacons if you have any questions. Make the change now and show others what being a true Disciple of Jesus Christ truly is.

God Bless, Deacon Michael

STEWARDSHIP

DEACON JOHN'S STEWARDSHIP COLUMN

NATIONAL Eucharistic Revival

Last Sunday St. Pat's hosted the first session of our Jesus and the Eucharist study, and it was amazing. I have to admit that sometimes I can be a doubting Thomas. I prayed all week that we would get at least 4-5 people to attend the first study. Early Sunday morning Karen and I opened the school to prepare for the PSR students that would soon be arriving. I walked past room 208 and looked at the room filled with tables, chairs, and folders prepared in front of every chair. Once again, I prayed, "Dear Lord, I hope we will fill at least a few tables."

Time passed quickly and 8:30 Mass was over. Then the good people of our parish came one by one to room 208 of the school. Every seat in the room was filled. About forty people attended. I was amazed and humbled by the beautiful and holy hour we spent together. It truly was a gift from God.

I would like to invite all of you to take time to attend these studies. I promise you will not be disappointed. May we all be one in the Lord.

God bless you,

Deacon John

FROM THE DIOCESE OF YOUNGSTOWN

NEXT WEEK IS WORLD MISSION SUNDAY

On Sunday, Oct. 22, we will unite with the global Church in celebrating World Mission Sunday. This year, Pope Francis illuminates our path with the theme: "Hearts on fire, feet on the move." As we prepare to observe this special day, we are reminded to ignite our hearts with Christ's love and extend that warmth to the most vulnerable corners of our world. Your fervent prayers and upcoming generosity in the collection for the Society for the Propagation of the Faith will bolster the missionaries working all around the world. Let us come together to support them in their mission of love and service. The second collection next weekend will be for the Missions. There is an envelope in your packet for this collection.

SHARING OUR TREASURE

"My God will fully supply whatever you need..."

- PHILIPPIANS 4:19

God really does provide for those who are grateful and generous. This is very difficult for people that don't live a stewardship lifestyle to believe. People are skeptical and say it's just coincidence. If you are skeptical, try living a stewardship lifestyle for just one month – be generous with your gifts of time in prayer, talent in charitable works, and treasure, then see how God provides for your needs.
